Dear Ken:

I look forward to hearing your feedback on Project Genesis.

Regarding Jennifer, why don't we schedule a phone call a few weeks from now so I can explain the situation. I'm afraid that mid-November is too late for an initial discussion. How is the week of September 21 for a call?

Regards,
Donna

Donna,

Today, we will have a meeting among all relevant people to the Project to discuss things and Kohei or me will let you know the outcome.

As for Jennifer, I am a bit surprised to hear that you will be thinking a termination, as I thought you had been feeling well with her and she had been trying her best to assume her new position or assignment. I know there is some claim or allegation to her, but it is too sudden for me to agree or disagree, because not a small number of people in Japan like her and have been appreciative for her contribution.

Thus, I will not think of termination until you and us had a chance to talk this matter in November, and therefore, I would like to keep her schedule for visiting Tokyo as currently planned. I will check with Hanawa-san for appointments other than the Kashima visit.

Best regards, Ken

Ken,

I think things are going smoothly with Project Genesis. Do you have any input or suggestions to keep it on track? The non-binding bid is due in 10 days.

Hanawa-san does not have much planned for Jennifer while she is in Tokyo. Do you have any suggestions?

Donna
